Madison BOPW OKs deal to handle county trash

Plan must still gain council approval

BY BOB DEMAREE

Madison's Board of Public Works Monday gave its blessing to an interlocal agreement between the City of Madison and Jefferson County, allowing the county to use the city's waste transfer station for garbage handling and disposal.

The agreement, approved by County Commissioners at a meeting last Thursday, must also be approved by Madison City Council but that would be the final step in the county's plan to begin hauling its own waste rather than contracting with Rumpke.

City Attorney Joe Jenner said the agreement needs approval by "both fiscal bodies" of the city.

The agreement would allow the county to drop off trash collected with its new garbage truck at the city's transfer station at a rate of $62 per ton. The city would them process that trash and have it transferred to an approved landfill.

In addition should the county's garbage truck experience mechanical issues, the city would agree to supply a driver and a truck to make pickups at the county's six dropoff points on a temporary basis at a rate of $750 per day.

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney noted that as part of the agreement, the county will contribute $25,000 toward the cost of improvements to the city's transfer station, which the city approved making significant upgrades to just last year.

"It is good to partner with Jefferson County," said Courtney, especially when that is "driving savings to the residents of our community."

Board of Works member David Carlow said he thinks a county representative needs to be available to respond to complaints, questions and concerns from county residents rather than dumping those issues on a city employee.

"There needs to be a county person to address county issues," said Carlow, adding that a city employee at the transfer station might not be able to

Crystal Beach bids top $2.5M

BY BOB DEMAREE

Plans to rehabilitate Madison's iconic Crystal Beach pool took another step forward Monday as bids were opened at the Board of Public Works meeting.

The city announced in January that it had been awarded a $2 million grant by the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs (OCRA) to improve handicap accessibility and extend the life of the Works Progress Administration-era facility. The project includes an improved concession area with ADA access to the street, an accessible spray pad, restored perimeter fencing and walls, a renovated accessible pool deck, repairs and renovations to the bath, shower and locker room area for ADA accessibility, an elevator for ADA accessibility to the second floor of the pool house as well as ADA accessible restrooms and a new pool liner that should extend the life of the pool by years.

Three bids were received Monday with all taken under advisement until they can be reviewed based on specifications.

Poole Group of Dillsboro made the lowest bid at $2,527,000. Teton Corporation bid $2,656,000 for the project and

MCHS Theatre to perform classic whodunit 'Clue' this week

Opening night set for Thursday

BY BOB DEMAREE

Students in Aaron Kelsey's Theatre class will take a step back in time this week by performing "Clue" April 22-25 at Madison Consolidated High School's Opal E. Sherman Auditorium.

The popular play, a madcap comedy whodunit murder mystery set in 1954, has been keeping audiences guessing for decades.

"The mystery unfolds as to who is killing all these people," said Kelsey, who is directing the production.

The cast and crew have been preparing since late January on a script based on the 1985 motion picture about an unusual dinner party in which each of the guests have an alias and the butler offers a variety of weapons.

Cast member Linda Lohe dusts for finger prints on Andie Royce while Zoe Bullock lifts Royce's arms while rehearsing a scene in "Clue" to be performed five times Thursday through Sunday.

The play, which has considerable dialogue for students to memorize, challenges students to not only memorize a lot of lines but deliver them exactly right, Kelsey noted.

"It's a mystery, and in some plays they can get away with fudging on their lines, but in this play, they have to be perfect with their lines and their delivery" because if specific words aren't used or if it's slightly off in the way it's expressed, it can affect the presentation. For what's said next, "the actor will play off the next line. It's got to be spot on," he said.

Due to the uncertainties of COVID-19, the production rehearsed two sets of actors for most characters. When one group is on stage acting, the other will be working behind the scenes.

Calhoun Construction of Louisville bid $2,966,000.

In other business, the board:

• Approved a contract with Ratio Architects of Indianapolis to develop designs for city parks as part of the master parks plan. The contract is for $20,000 with an additional $5,000 for reimbursements. The designs will focus on Gaines Park, Rucker Sports Complex, Jaycee Park and Lytle Park, along with a possible new 12-acre park near Miles Ridge, according to Nicole Schell, city planner-preservation coordinator.

• Approved a contract with Zambelli Fireworks to provide the fireworks show during Madison Regatta weekend in July. "This is the same company that we have used in years past," said Hannah Fagen, director of community relations. "They are familiar with Madison and the setup," she said.

The cost of the fireworks is $25,000 with an additional $3,000 for a barge, said Fagen, who said the plan is to increase the fireworks show by 10% this year. She is in the process of seeking sponsors for the event, which will be part of the Madison Regatta that was canceled last year due to COVID.

"This is an important part of our community celebration," said Madison Mayor Bob Courtney. "We already have plans to make it bigger and better."

• Approved a request filed by Mike Fine of the National Boat Racing Heritage Center for a street closing in connection with the Madison Vintage Thunder on Sept. 18-19. The street closing will be on Vaughn Drive between the west side of Broadway Street and the east side of Walnut Street from 8 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 16 through 8 a.m. Monday, Sept. 20.

• Approved a rate adjustment of $5,899.33 for Madison Consolidated Schools from its waste water bill after an incident in which Lewen Line Construction hit a water line to a storage building at Lydia Middleton Elementary School when it was boring for Metronet Cable. The problem wasn't discovered until two to three weeks later, and Lydia Middleton School, which typically uses about 51,400 gallons monthly, used 668,500 gallons.

• Courtney reported the city was among 80 selected out of 120 applicants to receive another round of Office of Community and Rural Affairs (OCRA) small business grants. The $250,000 grant will also include a $25,000 contribution from the city's Revolving Loan fund. "We will have announcements for small businesses coming soon after the committee meets to review applications."

• Courtney said the city received a grant of $352,000 for right-of-way acquisition to widen Wilson Avenue. He anticipates that work on the project will not begin before 2023. Additionally, Courtney said Beaty Construction will be in Madison later this month to complete milling and paving on the new US 421 gateway, a project that will take two to three weeks and "should wrap up by the end of May."

adequately address county issues and should not have to deal with a potential "confrontation with a county resident over trash."

Courtney, who is out of town and participated in the meeting via telephone, said Carlow offered a "good suggestion " and added that the interlocal agreement has not yet been finalized, so the matter could still be discussed with Commissioners.

Board member Karl Eaglin questioned a portion of the agreement where the city would provide a driver and truck to the county on a temporary basis in the event of a mechanical failure to the county's truck. Eaglin said he understands the reason since the county only has one garbage truck but asked if the county "will they have a backup driver?"

Courtney said while the county probably has other employees qualified with a Commercial Driver License who could drive the truck, there might still be rare instances when the county could be without a driver. He said the intention of that part of the agreement is for situations due to a mechanical malfunction of the truck and not the availability of a driver.

Raiders' Ritchie named MVP

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

EMINENCE, Ky. — McKenna Ritchie admitted to a fair amount of nerves when she toed the rubber at the start of Friday's All "A" Classic Eighth Region Championship game. But once the Trimble County junior picked up the aluminum, those nerves disappeared.

Ritchie allowed Walton-Verona two runs in the top of the first but only two baserunners the rest of the way as Trimble County pulled away for a 12-2 win to claim the regional title at Eminence High School.

Other than a walk in the third and a single in the fifth McKenna Ritchie was unhittable. She finished with five strikeouts and two walks in the five-inning game for her second win of the tournament.

Ritchie gave up a single and a double for the first run then fired a wild pitch to bring in the second run as the Raiders dug themselves a 2-0 hole early.

But Ritchie's two-run single in the first tied the game and opened the door for what would prove to be a Trimble rout.

"I was nervous coming in but once we started hitting I calmed down a little bit," Ritchie said.

Other than a walk in the third and a single in the fifth Ritchie — who was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player — was unhittable. She finished with five strikeouts and two walks in the five-inning game for her second win of the tournament.

"I can't say enough about McKenna. She's worked hard, but she's also her own worst enemy," Trimble coach Randy Wilson said. "We've really worked on having her calm down and work through things and she's really starting to see the rewards of that."

Sparks perfect as Switzerland blanks Shawe, 24-0

No-hitter was junior's second in 2 days

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Switzerland County ace Lily Sparks threw her second no-hitter in is many days — this one a five-inning perfect game — as the Pacers rolled over Shawe 24-0 in softball Friday in Vevay.

Sparks, a junior, didn't have to work too hard, striking out 11 of the 15 batters she faced. In three starts last week, Sparks (6-0) did not allow a single run while only giving up four hits in 19 innings pitched. She struck out 40 over that span and walked only one.

While Sparks was dominating the Hilltoppers in the circle, her Switzerland teammates were busy rolling up 32 hits in the five inning game.

Sparks also led the Pacers at the plate, going 5-for-5 with a double, five RBIs and four runs scored. Jessie Duvall hit her first home run of the season, a grand slam, and went 2-for-4 with four RBIs and four runs scored, Maddie Duvall had a triple, two RBIs and three runs scored, and Hailey Sainz had a double, a triple and drove in two runs.

Shawe freshman Kira Wells (0-4) took the loss after giving up just six earned runs in four innings.

On Saturday, Shawe lost 30-13 at home to Jac-Cen-Del. The Hilltoppers hit the ball, collecting 14 safeties in the game, but 10 Shawe walks allowed the Eagles to rack up more than enough runs.

SWISS BEATS SHAWE ON WALK-OFF

Austin Bosaw's RBI-single in the bottom of the seventh lifted Switzerland County to a 10-9 win over Shawe in baseball Friday in Vevay.

Switzerland entered the sixth inning holding a 9-3 lead but Shawe rallied to score three in the sixth and three more in the seventh to tie the game.

Bryce Turner ignighted the Pacer rally in the seventh by reaching on a one-out single and then stealing both second and third base. Bosaw then brought him home with a single to right.

Turner was 3-for-5 with an RBI and two runs scored while Bosaw was 2-for-4. Trace Johnson had two hits and scored two runs and Dakota Wallace had a double and an RBI.

Hunter Kennett had a single, a double and an RBI for Shawe. Charlie Liter had a hit and an RBI.

Wallace pitched the first six innings and did not allow an earned run while striking out eight but took a no-decision. Johnson (1-0) got the win with an inning in relief.

Kennett (0-1) pitched two and two-thirds innings in relief of starter Wyatt Nichter to take the loss.

Shawe was held to just four hits in a 14-2 loss to Jac-Cen-Del on Saturday in Osgood.

The host Eagles scored six runs in the first inning and never looked back, ending the game after five innings.

Jacob Hertz had two hits for Shawe and scored a run while Eric Liu and Zach Gish each had a hit. Philip Kahn drew a walk and scored the other run.

Christian Whitham (0-1) started on the mound and took the loss after allowing just two earned runs in two innings.

Switzerland, now 1-5 overall and 1-3 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, traveled to Madison on Monday and hosts New Washington on Wednesday.

Shawe, now 0-4 overall and in the ORVC, traveled to Rising Sun on Monday and hosts South Decatur on Wednesday.

pitch and Emma Ginn walked to load the bases, Ritchie brought in two runs with a line-drive to center. Maddie Nixon then plated two on an infield single.

From there, the rout was on. While Ritchie was mowing down Bearcats at the plate, Trimble's offense was heating up. The Raiders added three runs in the second on a two-run double by Rachael Liter and a sacrifice fly by Ginn, then got a run in the third on a Payton RBI single.

Trimble pushed four more runs across in the fourth on another Ginn sacrifice fly, an RBI single by Nixon and two-run home run by freshman Addison Edmondson to push ahead 12-2.

Ritchie allowed an infield single in the fifth but then slammed the door to secure the five-inning win for the Raiders.

Nixon was 3-for-3 with a double and three RBIs while Payton had three hits and an RBI. Liter had two doubles and drove in two, Emma Horn had a double and Ginn failed to get a hit but still had two RBIs.

Liter, Nixon and Ginn were all named to the all-tournament team, joining MVP Ritchie. Carroll County's Kamryn Knight and Bailey Mefford were also named all-tourney.

DES. # 1701457
LEGAL NOTICE PLANNED IMPROVEMENT
The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) has developed preliminary plans for a proposed bridge replacement along State Route (SR) 62, 0.35 mi. east of SR 250 in Jefferson County. The project proposes to replace the existing structure with a concrete I-beam bridge on a new alignment and profile, straightening SR 62 in this area. North Copeland Road will also be relocated to fit the newly aligned SR 62.
The need for the project is to provide safe transportation over Toddy's Branch with a bridge and roadway that meet current design standards.
The Maintenance of Traffic for the project will require most of the new bridge and approach construction to be completed with traffic maintained on the existing bridge with the new bridge constructed on a new alignment. The proposed method to maintain traffic for the pavement connections on each end, the completion of the NW corner of the abutment, south abutment, and placement of the bridge superstructure is to close the road and utilize a detour for approximately 3 months. The state route detour length is about 36 miles, and utilizes SR 250, US 421 to SR 129 to access SR 62. Local roads may be used by local traffic. Access to all properties will be maintained throughout construction. Project stakeholders including local school corporations and emergency services will be notified of closures and detours prior to any construction. The proposed start of construction is spring 2023.
Construction of the project will require approximately 2.816-acres of new permanent right-of-way (ROW) and 0.222-acre of temporary ROW. The estimated cost of the project is $2,236,371. Federal and state funds are to be utilized for the construction of the project. The Federal Highway Administration and INDOT have agreed that this project falls within the guidelines of a Categorical Exclusion (CE) Level 2 environmental document. Preliminary design plans, along with the CE, are available for review on the following website:
https://www.in.gov/indot/2706.htm

In addition, project information, including the environmental document, may be mailed to interested persons upon request.
In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), persons and/or groups requiring project information be made available in alternative formats are encouraged to contact the INDOT Seymour District Office for the arrangement and coordination of services. About to blow

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I've been married for 26 years. I have a 24-year-old son at home on the autism spectrum, and his 4-year-old daughter, of whom he has full custody. They get by with my help, and money, of course.

I have always been a very loving and supportive husband. I cook, clean, do laundry and whatever else needs to be done. I'm getting older now and developing arthritis. For a while, I would push through the pain to pamper my wife. Now, when we sit down, she throws her leg on me and says, "Rub my feet." I didn't mind when she appreciated it, but now that she expects it, this ruins it for me. If I say no, she gets upset.

When I try to talk to her about it, she turns it back on me and says that I shouldn't blame her for my problems. She said that since I've been doing it so long, she just expects it. This is not very comforting. She said, "Why don't you have some alone time and do something that makes you happy?"

For 26 years, I've never had alone time. I go to work, and then go home to my family. If I tell my wife I want to go somewhere by myself, she assumes I'm going to meet another woman. Plus, after 26 years of only thinking about my family, I have no clue what makes me happy. I just know I'm not. — Resentment

Dear Resentment: No one likes to feel unappreciated. Your wife ordering you to rub her feet sounds like she is acting more like a tyrant than a considerate, loving partner. Then again, you have allowed this reign of terror for quite some time.

Instead of brewing like a little teakettle that is going to blow, just tell her exactly how you feel. It is understandable that her lack of appreciation has made you not want to do nice things for her, but you have to tell her that. Couples therapy could help ease this conversation, so that pent-up resentments could be dealt with calmly.

Dear Annie: I read with interest the letter from the 63-year-old mother whose children felt she was wasting her money by going back to school and finishing her degree. I dropped out of college to put my husband through school when his father became ill and could not help him financially anymore.

After four children, two of whom got college degrees, I decided to go back to college and finish my degree. I chose to major in accounting.

I graduated cum laude at the age of 56. It took me seven months to get the job of my dreams, but after eight years of working, my husband and I were able to pay everything off, accumulate a great nest egg, and now we can travel wherever we want. Better yet, our children don't have to worry about taking care of us if things were to get bad.

Our children would not have dared to tell me I was making a mistake, even though my husband had a nice pension in addition to Social Security. I don't know what this woman's situation is, but she is making a great choice to go for what she wants. I hope she finishes what she started. — Happy I Went Back to College

Dear Happy I Went Back: Thank you for sharing your letter. You set a wonderful example that it is never too late to fulfill your dreams and that taking risks can pay off. Congrats again. In addition to the financial security that you have achieved, you have the knowledge that you acquired by going back to school.

I am reminded of a family saying: "You can lose your money, your looks and your youth, but no one can take away your education."

He's a toad

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I have never written anything like this before, but I'm beside myself with anger and sadness. My boyfriend of 16 years is leaving me because his two grown children from his marriage do not like me and are refusing to let him see his five grandchildren.

The story goes like this: When we first got together, we were both cheaters. We knew that what we were doing was wrong. Since then, I have never cheated on him.

His wife told their children about his cheating.

We have been living together for the last 2 1/2 years. We were supposed to buy a house together, but then his wife and kids came up with this new plan. My mom had passed away, and he was getting what he wanted — a place in the country where we could live together. He wanted me to put him down as half-owner of the house, but I told him I would only do that after he got a divorce, because if anything were to ever happen to him, I wouldn't pay his wife half of anything that was mine.

He said she wouldn't do that. I told him she would; she had already thrown him under the bus. He wound up buying a house that she found for him. I'm not supposed to know where he lives or even see the place.

He always said that I would be the one who left him, yet he's leaving me in the dust. I feel abandoned and alone. I gave him everything. I got him to go to the best doctors and showed him how to do many things. I did not tell him what to do, yet he's still on a joint phone plan with her. He won't tell me he loves me, because he said he's leaving and it's just not right, but we sleep together and make love. If I ask him whether he loves me, he says yes, but he just won't say it when I need to hear it the most.

I'm so beside myself. I made my life for him and changed everything for him, and now I'm alone and heartbroken. I don't know what to do. I found the one who has my whole heart and soul. — Crying Myself to Sleep

Dear Crying Myself to Sleep: The "one" who has your whole heart and soul would not cheat on his wife with you and continually drag you along. He is trying to have his cake and eat it, too, and he is quite the pig. Stop sleeping with him immediately and tell him it is over. Reach out to family and friends for support while you recover and get over him (and you will; it just might take a little time). Once you find your true prince charming, you will be thrilled that you kicked the toad out of your life.
